

GROUP ASSIGNMENT
DATA CURATION AND MANAGEMENT PLAN
8TH AUGUST 2025

Group Assignment details

Sno	Task	Group
1	Adopt any official website from the “internet of things” and make a compelling case for the organization to adopt a metadata tailored to the website. Present your proposal to such an organization.	Metadata
2	Data preprocessing is an important aspect of data warehousing, but in many cases, organizations focus primarily on accumulating data without performing adequate due diligence. Develop data preprocessing advocacy plan for any organization of your choice offering a clear roadmap for its uptake.	Data Preprocessing
3	Language Models (LMs) have transformed the world of unstructured data. Present a brief history of LMs and demonstrate how their emerging abilities can revolutionise the field of data curation and management.	LMs
4	Open data sources are unlocking unprecedented collaboration, transparency and accountability in the data landscape. Identify some of the global open data sources and demonstrate how to access data from at least two of the several sources.	Open sources
5.	GitHub repositories are now vital tools for collaborative and reproducible research. Identify five data-driven organizations or research institutions that use GitHub and analyze how they structure and manage their repositories. Your presentation should highlight key practices such as naming conventions, documentation, modular design, and use of GitHub features.	Repositories
6	Data quality is often assumed rather than assured, leading to costly errors and poor decisions. Many organizations lack a structured framework to ensure data integrity across systems. Propose a data quality assurance framework for any organization of your choice, outlining key dimensions (e.g., accuracy, completeness, timeliness) and steps for implementation. Your framework should include strategies for monitoring, evaluation, and continuous improvement.	Data Quality
